

THEY ARE LEARNING FROM US

While the children played behind her, we asked Adela a question, “What has changed for you since COVID-19?”

“We do not have a case of COVID-19 here in Kifuata or in Songo, the district capital yet, but we are trying our best to take all the precautions,” said Adela, pointing to her home-made mask. “When the Anglican church helped us build these wells and encouraged us to set up handwashing facilities in our homes, it was to prevent diarrhea diseases and keep our children free from disease. But now see, we are safe from COVID-19. Other communities are now trying to do what we began three years ago.”

Kifuata is one of 81 communities in the northern Angolan province of Uige. Episcopal Relief & Development has partnered with the Anglican Church of Angola, in the province, to scale up a water, sanitation, and hygiene project called Maza yi Moyo. The project, which began in 2016, supported 126 improved water sources serving a population of over 42,000 people.

Your partnership empowers more families, in more places, to support more children.
