Zoom group - invite group to turn off cameras, if they wish

You may close your eyes or soften your gaze, whichever feels more comfortable for you...
Beginning to settle yourself by noticing and putting aside any concerns, unfinished plans, or tensions from this day...as we take the turn inward, putting ourselves in the presence of God...

You may take a few long deep, cleansing breaths, tuning in to the movement of your breath collecting your attention...

Breathing in the breath of Spirit, breathing out compassion and care.

Breathing in the breath of the Spirit, breathing out welcome and generosity.

When you notice thoughts or emotions arising, simply take note and then return your attention, very gently, to your breathing...

There is no need to push thoughts or feelings away. Instead, maintain a posture of welcome to your own interior movements.

Continue attending to the breath as you join, in the silence of your heart, in these prayers for the healing of the world:

May we be in loving service to all.

May we be tenacious in humility and deeper understanding.

May we promote the dignity of every human being.

May we understand ourselves to be part of the natural world.

May all children be encouraged to grow and flourish.

May all women be encouraged to grow and flourish.

May we reverence God in all of God's creation.

May all people find relief from struggle and pain.

May our compassion and hope radiate to all forms of life.

And may our faithful witness be for the healing of the world.

Continue breathing, imagining that with each exhale, you are widening your circle of concern, to include the whole world, from those closest to you to those furthest away.

When you are ready, set an intention for how you will participate in today's session... and slowly return your awareness to this community gathered.

Slide 18 - Using Mutual Invitation for Sharing

In order to ensure that everyone who wants to share has the opportunity to speak, we will proceed in the following way:

1. The leader or a designated person will share first.

After that person has spoken, he or she then invites another to share. After the next person has spoken, that person is given the privilege to invite another to share.

2. If you are not ready to share yet, say "I pass for now" and we will invite you to share later on. If you don't want to say anything at all, simply say "pass" and proceed to invite another to share. We will do this until everyone has been invited.

The Mutual Invitation process is used in order to insure that everyone who wants to share has the opportunity to speak when the catalyst gives the instruction to do so. As group members become more accustomed to using this tool, they make connections with everyone in the session, because they invite each speaker by name. When Mutual Invitation is used, it encourages deep and holy listening to one another, because there is no conversation until everyone has spoken once.
